apparently, only a few of the earliest-laid eggs had hatched, a few eggs were still being incubated, and the rest were deserted and contained dead, partly grown embryos as an animal progresses through a weight loss program, owners must monitor their pets progress by weighing and by assessing body condition as a society, we are generally distrustful of our government and provide personal information only grudgingly this makes it absolutely turn-key - no cold calling to local merchants, meaning much less effort to begin raising money the neighbors become afraid to leave their porches
